

<https://fintechnews.ch/job/associate-product-manager-80-100-at-neon/>

Associate Product Manager – 80-100 %

Description

As an associate product manager, you will be fully responsible for one of neon's three product streams and work in a cross-functional team.

The team, which is comprised of a product manager, a UX/UI designer, and several engineers, solves hard customer and business problems. As their product manager, you drive ideation, prioritization, and discovery of these solutions. You support the team throughout the implementation and re-evaluate launched features for future improvements.

You develop a solid knowledge of neon's business, clients and the Swiss Fintech/banking market and coordinate work with neon's product partners.

Responsibilities

- You are solving interesting problems in the B2C Fintech space, while making your first steps or build upon your first experiences in product management
- You don't just work on one tiny part of the product. You take responsibility for a whole product stream and your work will directly impact the lives of over 140k clients
- You are part of a strong product team to challenge ideas with, learn from the collective wealth of experiences and have fun at work
- You are empowered to share your thoughts and get hands-on tackling problems even way outside of your domain

Qualifications

- You completed your degree in a relevant field (you decide if it was relevant) You have first experiences in product management and/or working in the Fintech or tech industry in general
- You are a hands-on person that does not shy away from the uncertainty and unstructuredness a start-up is facing, yet your own work is always well-structured
- You genuinely enjoy the interaction with people and are used to adapting your language to the various backgrounds of your audience
- You bring a passion for solving customer needs with digital products and you value the beauty of simple solutions and an impeccable user experience
- You are fluent in English, German is considered a plus

Hiring organization

neon

Excessive fees, inflexible opening times, too much bureaucracy and complicated apps. To neon, it was clear: it can't go on like that. That's why the team built neon. neon is your transaction account for your everyday finances. No base fees, free Mastercard. Super simple. All on your smartphone. 100% independent.

Employment Type

Full-time

Job Location

Zurich, Zurich, Switzerland

Date posted

December 6, 2022

APPLY